SENSATION SPRUNG AT STATE SESSION

Criticism of Democrats who Voted for Stephenson Is Made Part of the Platform

PROGRESSIVES IN CONTROL

Burt Williams for Senator; Schmitz for Governor, and La Crosse Man Named for Atty. Gen.

STATE TICKET NOMINATED

United States senator—Burt Williams, Ashland.
For governor—A. J. Schmitz, Milwaukee.
For lieutenant governor—M. J. Scholz, Kenosha. H. W. Bolens, Port Washington.
Secretary of state—Geo. W. Theisen, Dodge county; John K. Callahan, Oshkosh.
State treasurer—E. C. Zimmerman, Wausau.
Insurance commissioner—John A. Handwood, Jefferson.
Attorney general—John F. Doherty, La Crosse.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—A sensational scene at last evening's session of the state democratic convention was an attack on the three democratic members of the last legislature who went out on the day Senator Stephenson was elected. A resolution censuring them for this act was introduced, and made a part of the platform, after a long debate.

Assemblyman S. A. Towne, who was present as a delegate, undertook to defend the members of which he was one, but was hooted and jeered by the delegates.

Previously the convention had rejected the initiative and referendum as applied to the state as a whole; adopted a platform favoring home rule, but left the question of the initiative and referendum and recall to districts; denounced the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and favored conservation of natural resources.

Other planks in the platform adopted are for publication of campaign expenses, a stringent corrupt practices act, an amendment to the national constitution for an income tax law, and against alleged republican extravagance.

GUNBOAT FLOATED

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 13.—The gunboat Castine which was beached near here Monday afternoon to prevent her from sinking after she had been struck by the submarine Bonita, was got off at high tide today under her own steam.

Dull Seasons

Instead of sitting back during the dull seasons and letting your business drag, work up a series of sales of seasonable goods and advertise them in earnest.

You can fill your store with buyers just the same in the dull seasons as you can in the busy seasons.

By giving a good lively sale occasionally, you create enthusiasm among the buying public and get the people started trading with you who have always traded elsewhere.

By advertising in The Tribune you can bring out buyers at any season of the year.

Don't let dull seasons come, keep business booming all the time.

JAIL YAWNS FOR TRUST OFFICIALS

Prison Sentences May Result if Indictments Are Returned by Grand Jury

JAIL THE MEN HIGHER UP

Sensational Turn in the Prosecution of the Beef Trust Promised Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 13.—Penitentiary sentences for individuals responsible for the organization of the packers' trust will be sought at the conclusion of the investigation to be conducted by a special grand jury, beginning tomorrow, according to a well founded report in circulation here today. If the packers are indicted and convicted of violation of the anti-trust law, they will be liable to imprisonment for one year and fines of $5,000 each.

United States District Attorney Sims returned to Chicago today after a brief outing and conferred with Assistant District Attorney Wilkerson regarding the investigation of the trust. Asst. Atty. Gen. Kenyon will arrive from Washington tomorrow to represent the government.

Judge Landis who is to impanel a grand jury Monday is expected to arrive in the city tomorrow. It is expected that he will make a sensational charge as he is opposed to actions against corporations without including the individuals involved. The fact that Louis C. Krauthoff, the attorney who conducted the organization of the National Packing company, through which it is alleged the packers attempted to evade the anti-trust law, sailed for Europe since the new investigation of the trust was ordered, will not hamper the prosecution. It is understood that his testimony given a previous grand jury will be introduced in the forthcoming investigation and that his appearance will not be required.

The venire of 75 men summoned for the grand jury was selected from farmers and small business men.

CUT WITH KNIFE, REFUSES NAME

Shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, two men drove up to the office of Dr. I. N. Cohen, 429 South Fifth street, seeking the doctor's services for one of the men who had been cut in the arm and also in the leg with a knife. The injuries bled profusely but the wounds are not considered dangerous. After the wounds were dressed the man paid the doctor refusing to give any name, entered the carriage and drove away with his friend. The doctor is of the opinion that the fellow was a traveling man and that he had been cut up in some fight during the early hours of the morning. He was well dressed. The police know of no night brawls in which any cutting was done and the entire affair seems to be shrouded in mystery. Inquiry among the various "all night" places fails to reveal any fights and the police are baffled. In an interview Dr. Cohen stated the facts of the case saying, "The man wouldn't give a name but paid me and drove away."

JOKE COSTS LIFE OF THE RESCUER

CANARSIE, N. Y., July 13.—Police are trying to learn the name of the lad whose joke cost Robert Vletin, a 16 year old youth, his life. Vletin was swimming in Fish Creek with a crowd of boys when one of the party threw up his hands and cried for help. Vletin swam toward him and the supposedly drowning boy jumped on a log and paddled away laughing. His heroic would-be rescuer was taken with a cramp and sank.

BRYAN'S MAN IS OUT FOR SENATE

LINCOLN, Neb., July 13.—Petitions making Richard L. Metcalfe, associate editor on Bryan's newspaper, and Bryan's closest friend, a candidate for United States senator, were put in circulation this afternoon.

WOODWARD AT SPARTA

SPARTA, Wis., July 13.—Calling upon every Progressive to support Francis E. McGovern, the Rev. Daniel Woodward, Omro, Wis., opened the Republican campaign for governor before a large crowd here last night. The doctor contended that no county option candidate had a chance to win the Republican nomination.

DR. ANDERSON IS VICE-PRESIDENT

La Crosse Man Elected Once More as Wisconsin Representative in Upper Mississippi Ass'n

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 13.—The Upper Mississippi Improvement association held the last meeting of its ninth annual convention at the St. Paul hotel this afternoon.

The delegates were addressed by Gov. Eberhart, ex-Governor Van Sant and President Wilkinson of the association.

At the afternoon session President Thomas Wilkinson and Secretary Louis Boswell were re-elected. The vice presidents chosen by states were as follows:

J. I. Martin, Missouri; William A. Moose, Illinois; Captain Lon Byron, Iowa; Dr. W. A. Anderson, Wisconsin, and J. G. Armon, Minnesota. The convention adjourned late this afternoon after choosing Alton, Ill., as the next place of meeting.

SUFFRAGETTES TO AVENGE DEFEAT

LONDON, July 13.—The defeat of the Shackleton bill, granting the right of the franchise to women with sufficient property qualifications, will signalize an outbreak such as England never knew before. The women and the men who sympathize with them will temporize in this matter no longer.

This semi-revolutionary statement was made today by Walter T. Claren, M. P., the leading parliamentary champion of the suffragettes. The statement followed the passage of the franchise bill to its second reading in the house of commons last night. This temporary victory, however, was short lived, for the commons thereupon voted to send the bill to the committee of the whole instead of to a subsidiary committee. In committee of the whole the bill cannot be taken up for passage without the approval of Premier Asquith, who is hostile to the measure and who will see to it that it is not called out at this session. It was stated at the headquarters of the suffragette movement today that the women would wait a brief time to see whether Asquith intends to yield to what they say is a popular issue. "But if he refuses, you may be sure we will resort to violence, and violence of a nature that will make our former outbreaks tame."

SEERESS SAYS AIR IS UNCONQUERABLE

PARIS, July 13.—Madame Theodor, world renowned French seeress who became internationally prominent when she predicted the San Francisco earthquake and the great French floods, discussing the death of Captain Rolles today said: "I believe that every man who tries to conquer the air is doomed to die, one after the other just as tragically as Captain Rolles did."

HARTJE GETS A DIVORCE AT LAST

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 21.—Augustus Hartje, millionaire paper manufacturer, was this afternoon granted an absolute divorce from his wife, Mary Jenny Scott Hartje. Hartje was granted the custody of the son, Scott, 14, and the mother was given temporary charge of the daughter, Mary, 10.

MAY REINSTATE BEDWELL

NEW YORK, July 13.—H. G. Bedwell, suspended from the turf by the alleged doping of the horse Nadzu, has obtained from race officials and trainers here affidavits which he believes will influence the Kentucky Racing commission to restore him to good standing.

MAN FLUNKS IN A SUICIDE PACT

Shoots His Affinity, but Then Fails to Kill Himself and Is Arrested

NEW YORK, July 13.—What was at first thought to have been an attempted murder by burglars early today developed into a strange suicide pact in which the man failed to keep his part of the agreement.

When Mrs. Antoinette Skoors was found in her room, suffering mortal wounds from three revolver shots, she told the police she had been shot by a burglar. Later her husband found letters written by Casimir Malski, which indicated that Malski had shot the woman. The man was arrested and admitted that he fired the shots, adding that he had attempted to kill himself, but that the bullets went wild. According to the story told the police and the letters he wrote, he and the woman had loved each other in Austria. Her marriage separated them. When they met their love was renewed. Malski said they agreed they could not be together as long as they were alive but believed they would be together forever in eternity, whereupon he shot her and tried to kill himself.

INTEREST IN THE GRAND PRIX RACE

NEW YORK, July 13.—International interest is being manifested in the grand prix automobile race to be held on the Vanderbilt cup course on Long Island on October 15, two weeks after the running of the Vanderbilt cup race on October 1.

As any kind of racing car may enter the grand prix, while the Vanderbilt is limited to stock cars of ordinary types, it is expected that the fastest speed cars in the world, built especially for the race, will compete. Three Marmion cars are the latest entrants in the big race. They will be driven by Ray Harroun, Joe Dawson and a third driver yet to be selected. Among other cars already entered are three Benz racers, to be driven by Geo. Robertson, Barney Oldfield and Hemery. Three Platts, to be driven by Nazarra, Wagner and De Palma, are also entered. It is believed all the leading foreign makers barred from the Vanderbilt by restrictions as to size, will enter specially built racing cars in the grand prix in competition with the American racers.

NEARLY BLEEDS TO DEATH YESTERDAY

Carl Larson, a baker, employed by the Erickson Park bakery, nearly bled to death yesterday afternoon about six o'clock while searching for a doctor to attend to a varicose vein which had burst in his leg. The accident happened down town and Mr. Larson walked up Main street to Sixth, over Sixth to Cass, down Cass to Fifth and over Fifth street to Dr. Cohen's office where the doctor attended him. The physician stated that had the man gone half an hour longer without the services of a doctor he would have died. He left a trail of blood in his wake which aroused the suspicions today, of a police detective who followed them to the physician's office where he discovered the cause of the stains on the walk.

THREATEN GENERAL STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 15.—Members of the cloak manufacturer's association met this afternoon to consider the amalgamation of their various organizations and the bringing in of strike breakers from other cities to operate their plants.

The union officials announced that if the employers do not agree to arbitrate without delay they will call a general strike in the industry and tie up all the cloak and suit manufacturers in every city in the United States.

GERMANY CHANGES BELLIGERENT VIEW

Officialdom of Kaiser's Country Today Recalls Harsh Attacks on America

U. S. RIGHTS RECOGNIZED

Supervision of Uncle Sam Now Unquestioned, Although it was Denied Yesterday

BERLIN, July 13.—Germany today experienced a complete change of heart regarding America's attitude toward her diplomatic relation with Central and South American countries.

Yesterday and this morning those newspapers which are known to be under the domination of the foreign office and which print no diplomatic news which is not sanctioned by the highest officials of the government, declared in harsh language that Germany would never submit to American supervision of her relations with those countries under the plan of the Monroe doctrine.

This afternoon's papers, known to be equally under the control of the foreign office, take an entirely different tack, declaring that Germany recognizes the right of the United States to maintain her self appointed guardianship over Central and South American countries.

This morning the Berliner Post, in an inspired editorial, declared that Germany did not care what America thought of the Kaiser's letter to President Madrid of Nicaragua: "We are not vassals of the American president and shall do as we please," said the editorial.

The Berliner Zeitung, official government organ, in a similarly inspired editorial this afternoon said: "The German government does not claim the right to maintain diplomatic relations with Central and South American countries without the supervision of the American government."

Change Unexpected. This totally unexpected change of front on the part of the foreign office, which one day shouted "no supervision" and the next day admitted America's right to supervise, is scarcely explicable.

It is but one of the many instances where the foreign office has turned completely about. The press department of the foreign office has four members who appear not to be able to work in harmony. Instances are numerous where one of the members of the press department has given out one kind of a statement, only to have it denied by another. Nor is it uncommon for the foreign office to give out a statement of one kind to one newspaper correspondent and a statement diametrically different to another correspondent simultaneously.

Through its foreign office, realized that it had gotten itself into an unpleasant situation with America, is manifested by another statement issued today which draws attention to the fact that Austrian, Danish, Norwegian, Belgian, Swiss, Chilean and Argentine governments recognized Madrid as the valid president of Nicaragua before the Kaiser wrote his now famous "good and great friend" letter.

Uncle Sam Pleased. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—The calming of the tempest which the German foreign office stirred up within itself over the Kaiser's letter to President Madrid of Nicaragua is viewed in Washington today with satisfaction as complete as the perplexity with which astounding utterances from Berlin were received yesterday.

RICKARD AND JEFF CONFERRING TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13.—In response to a telegram from James J. Jeffries, Tex Rickard arrived here from San Francisco today and immediately went to the boiler maker's home. The defeated pugilist and the promoter of the big Reno battle at once began a conference.

The consensus of opinion among sporting men here is that Jeffries' re-entry into the ring will probably result.

BOSTON, July 13.—John Dovey, president of the Boston Nationals, today denied that Fletcher Curtis and Shortstop Sweeney of the Doves are to be traded to Cincinnati for Hans Lobert of the Reds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—No member of the cabinet is now in Washington to hold down the lid. Postmaster General Hitchcock sailed for Europe from New York today.

RENOWNED GERMAN AVIATOR IS KILLED

Four Companions Crushed when Air Liner Bursts and Falls Like Plummet

DOOM AWAITS ALL MEN-BIRDS

Prophecy of Noted French Seeress Being Fulfilled; "Game Has Me Beat," Says Suicide

BERLIN, July 13.—The German foreign office this afternoon authorized the United Press representative to say that it had not authorized any denial of the contents of the cablegram sent yesterday regarding American supervision over Germany diplomacy in Central and South America.

The cause of the conflicting statements of yesterday was the absence from the city of Privy Councillor Hammann, chief of the press department of the foreign office and the action of the subordinates.

COLOGNE, Germany, July 13.—

Herr Erbsloeh, the world renowned German scientist and aviator, and four companions were dashed to death today near Patscheid, west Germany, when the dirigible balloon, the Erbsloeh, named after its inventor and constructor, fell from a height of 5,000 feet. Five heaps of crushed flesh and bone, absolutely unrecognizable, lay beneath the debris of the wrecked balloon when those who had witnessed the fall reached the spot.

The dirigible Erbsloeh belonged to the Rhine Aerial Club. It resembled a miniature Zeppelin dirigible, being one-sixth the size of the airship of the famous inventor. The Erbsloeh consisted of twelve balloon nets placed side by side in a rigid and covered frame like the water tight compartments of a ship. A long aluminum car for the engines and passengers was swung below the gas bags. The car contained two gasoline engines of high power which drove the fore and aft propellers that gave headway to the airship.

The Erbsloeh had made several satisfactory short flights and was regarded as one of the best types of modern dirigibles, being far less cumbersome than the monster Zeppelin.

The dirigible went aloft early today from Dusseldorf from which point the ill-fated Zeppelin passenger liner started her last voyage. In the aluminum car were Erbsloeh and two companions, together with the two chauffeurs whose duty it was to take care of the gasoline engines.

Gas Bag Bursts. While near Patscheid one of the balloonets in the great balloon burst and in a twinkling all the gas

NO FREAKS IN NEW CONSTITUTION

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 13.—When the constitutional convention meets in Santa Fe next October to adopt a constitution for the new state of New Mexico, all freak clauses will be barred. The delegates are determined that the constitution shall be safe and sane.

This is the situation today as a result of the territorial conventions held here last night by the republicans and democrats.

The democrats adopted a resolution offering to combine with the republicans and elect a non-partisan delegation, but the republicans flatly refused to do so. It is probable that 75 per cent of the delegates will be republicans.

Prospective United States senators and congressmen by the score addressed both conventions last night.

S. S. S. THE BEST SPRING TONIC

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic and blood purifier in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, sickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anaemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, etc., break out and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is the only medicine on which you can rely to supply the system with the needed tonic effects and at the same time purify and enrich your blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring season if you use S. S. S. for your tonic.

SHERIFF ASKED TO REMOVE BROWN

County Board Unanimously Requests that the Turnkey Be Relieved from Office

Following the numerous escapes of prisoners from the county jail the county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon unanimously adopted a resolution, requesting Sheriff William Duncan to remove Turnkey Frank Brown from office. The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Oscar Hulberg.

District Attorney James Thompson when called upon for an opinion, said that the sheriff or any of his subordinates can only be removed by the governor and the adoption of the resolution was simply a request to have the sheriff take this action. The district attorney said he had investigated the matter of prisoners making their escape at the county jail, during the past few days and had found that at least three men had escaped. The statement made by the turnkey in regard to each of these cases was to the effect that the prisoners were trustees and it was while they were about the jail that they escaped. The district attorney said that while prisoners may be able to get away the principal objection made was because no report of the escapes was made to either himself or the chief of police. He said he considered this was not the best kind of service. The prisoners who escaped and were not reported were Charles Brown, William Eden and Joseph Webber.

Supervisor Kindley asked if a resolution passed by the board and sent to the governor would be proper to which the district attorney replied that the governor could not consider such a resolution. The request must be made by a taxpayer, who must file a bond. Should the request made by the board fail to be complied with by the sheriff, the matter may be taken up by the district attorney, providing some taxpayer make the request to have the turnkey removed from office.

TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL IS A GO

County Board Votes to Build an Institution at a Cost of $5,000 at the Poor Farm

At the afternoon session of the county board of supervisors yesterday a resolution was adopted, appropriating $5,000 for the erection of a tuberculosis hospital on the poor farm to be operated in connection with the poor house. This action was taken after the committee on ways and means reported favorably upon the proposition. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 20 to 6.

The special committee tuberculosis hospital and the committee on ways and means were authorized to enter into a contract for the erection of the building.

The improvements at the county poor farm, recommended in the report of the special committee appointed to investigate the needs at that institution, were ordered and a special committee comprising Supervisors Guenthe, Baker, Holbek and Andregg was appointed to have charge of the work.

Supervisors Ray Lewis, William Dwyer, Peter Lehnen, Henry Muelenberg and John Kindley were appointed delegates to represent La Crosse county at the national irrigation congress to be held at Pueblo, Col.

The committee on claims recommended the payment of a bill of Coroner Leonard Kleeber, amounting to 30 cents for street car fare. Supervisor Ruud objected to allowing this bill, but it was paid by a vote of 19 to 10, Supervisors Bradley, Timp and Holbek being excused from voting.

Make Your "Meat" Shredded Wheat

These are troublous times for the man who eats food. The Government is after the beef trust, the poultry trust and "the cold storage egg". But while congress, state legislatures and grand juries are "investigating" the high cost of living, your meat bills and grocery bills are soaring higher and higher.

The food problem is an easy one if you know

SHREDDED WHEAT

It contains more real body-building nutriment than meat or eggs, is more easily digested and costs much less. Always clean—always pure—always the same price. Your grocer sells it.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit is made of the whole wheat, steam-cooked, shredded and baked in the cleanest, finest food factory in the world. It is ready-cooked, ready-to-serve. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits heated in the oven to restore crispness, and eaten with a little hot milk, and salted or sweetened to suit the taste, will supply all the energy needed for a half-day's work. If you like it for breakfast, you will like it for any meal in combination with vegetables, baked apples, sliced bananas, stewed prunes or other fruits.

ALL THE "MEAT" OF THE GOLDEN WHEAT

Bread the cheapest food—

MARVEL Flour makes more loaves from a sack than other flours—costs least per loaf. All grocers sell MARVEL—order a sack now.

THE REAL FACTS

A local stalwart newspaper attempts to make light of the assertion that a bitter fight is to be made by the standpatters of Wisconsin, aided and abetted by reactionaries without the state, to unseat Senator Robert M. La Follette. It says in part:

The only republican in the field at this date as a contestant with Mr. La Follette for senatorial honors is the Honorable Samuel A. Cook of Neenah, and we do not see in the candidacy of this estimable gentleman—standing by itself—anything that should give the senatorial grave concern. Mr. Cook has had some experience as a senatorial candidate and he got a respectable vote in the last senatorial primary when his rivals were Isaac Stephenson and Francis E. McGovern and W. H. Hutton. But as a debater of public questions—or, for that matter, as a student of them—Mr. Cook is so many sizes smaller than Senator La Follette that we cannot believe it to be the serious purposes of those Wisconsin reactionaries who are opposed to Mr. La Follette's return to the senate to base their expectations of defeating the senator upon the Cook candidacy. Maybe it won't be a "gall and wormwood" campaign after all.

The stalwart paper merely verifies the interpretation placed upon the situation by discerning progressives. Cook is nothing to the stalwarts. They know that La Follette will overwhelm him at the primaries. They have no intention of recognizing the Neenah man in the senatorial contest. Their plan is to quietly bend every effort to the capture of the state legislature. Should they succeed in doing this they propose to have the legislature repudiate the primary and elect a stalwart. But the stalwart will not be "Sam" Cook; W. D. Connor has slated himself for the doubtful honor of taking the toga, vi et armis, from the man most of the people want, and with it to clothe his own insufficient personage.

So there will be "gall and wormwood" in the campaign but it will not be for Cook. The fight will be for the legislature, and we repeat our warning to progressives everywhere not to relax their vigilance but to devote every effort to the election of legislators who are now in favor of the re-election of Senator La Follette and who cannot be bought by an opposing candidate.

THE WATER QUESTION

Editor of The Tribune:

In Saturday night's issue of The Tribune you dealt at length on our water works problem. I think that article is timely and well taken, and I believe every citizen and taxpayer should take enough interest in such vital questions as this is, to freely and unhesitatingly express his views and opinion. No doubt should exist in the minds of the public as to the incapability of our pumps to supply the demand. Therefore, let us immediately furnish that which is lacking, another pump of sufficient capacity, a pump large enough to do the work alone, and retain the old pumps for an emergency by enlarging the old pumping station, if necessary, to accommodate the new pump, as I believe we have sufficient ground adjoining the station. I do not believe in a filtering plant, or sediment basins, nor do I take stock in chemically treated water for the city of La Crosse. Our people would not use it for drinking purposes, as we are fortunate to have something better, in our natural supply from our family pumps. Let us save the money that a filtering plant, or a line of sediment basins would cost, and simply lay a large intake pipe across the river into Pettibone Park Lagoon, where we can, with a comparatively small outlay of money, have an increasing supply of clear, if not pure, water, as the old Father of Waters will at all times send back from the foot of the island just as much water as we take out of the lagoon, and it seems reasonable, as a writer of an article a few days ago claimed, that by flowback of the water nearly a half mile, we would have no use for sediment basins in or near the lagoon. The well and reservoir plan has been my choice for years, but if there is any doubt as to a sufficient and permanent supply of water, I surrender, and offer my hearty support to something better.

Yours truly,

A CITIZEN.

A DOUBLE APOLOGY
Speaking of Senator Hudnall's candidacy for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor, the Superior Telegram says:

"There are differences of political opinion in Superior as there are everywhere else, but this is a case where Senator Hudnall, a resident of Superior, is seeking a state office. The Telegram has always insisted that Superior and Douglas county should be united when seeking preferment for one of our own citizens. Such a situation has arrived. Every one in Superior, Douglas county and the northern part of Wisconsin should give Senator Hudnall, our neighbor, unanimous support for the office of lieutenant governor, regardless of political factions. There should be nothing in this contention which could antagonize any other portion of the state. In fact, when a man goes forth from his home county with unanimous support without respect to opinions on political matters, it ought to give him so much better standing away from home. We believe it will."

The Telegram is a progressive republican newspaper. It does not stand for the things which the state of Wisconsin, outside of Douglas county, believes Mr. Hudnall stands for. We can appreciate the embarrassment of the Telegram. We can even understand how it has permitted local pride to compel its support of a Stalwart. We believe the rest of the state will fully comprehend, and that outside of Douglas county the case of Mr. Hudnall will be dealt with strictly upon its merits. The portion of the editorial which we have quoted above tells the whole story: It is an apology in which the newspaper speaks one word for Mr. Hudnall and two for itself.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

A Little Song
I've no money piling up
In the banks—
There's contentment in my cup—
I give thanks!

It's a very little part
That I play;
But there's music in my heart
All the day!

It's a very little place
That I fill
But the sun shines on my face
Where I till.

Oh, it's wonderful how life
Laughs along,
When you front the daily strife
With a song.

And it's wonderful how Love
Touches slight
To the Dawn that shines above
All the night.

And it's wonderful how Dreams
Chase away
Every weariness that streams
On the day.

There's no corner of the world
That's so small
But the sun is all unfurled
At our call.

And never path of sorrow
Man has trod,
But finds it's way tomorrow
Up to God.

The cloud shall pass away.
Not the Star;
What is ours shall surely stay
Where we are.

Let the fragrance of our living
Be a prayer;
Claim the joy that Life is giving Everywhere.

Take the faith of common duty
For a wing,
And the world shall hear our Beauty
Soar and sing.
—Larry Ho, in St. Paul Dispatch.

Frightened Off
A Washington car conductor, born in London and still a cockney, has succeeded in extracting thrills from the alphabet—imparting excitement to the names of the national capital's streets. On a recent Sunday morning he was calling the streets thus:

"Halt!"
"High!"
"Jay!"
"Kay!"
"Hell!"

At this point three prim ladies picked up their prayer books and left the car.

Giving an Instance
"George," said the customer, "you make a pretty good thing of it in tips in the course of a year, don't you?"

"Yes, sir," answered the barber, "I do fairly well, Mr. Parker, fairly well."

"How do you manage it?"
"Oh, I just jolly the swells along, you know. I hand 'em out a little taffy now and then."

"I see. By the way, George, now that I think of it, haven't you something that will make the hair grow on that bald spot of mine?"

"Bless you, Mr. Parker, that ain't no bald spot. The hair is just a little thin there, sir; that's all. . . . Thank you, Mr. Parker."

McEwen's Decision
Not long ago Justice McEwen sat on a cow case; that is, a case involving money due one man for boarding the cow of another. The wrangle was as to what the board was worth.

One attorney called three or four liverymen and got their testimony on the cost of boarding a horse. Of course the opposing counsel objected and declared such testimony to be incompetent, on the ground that the cost of boarding a horse is not the same as the cost of boarding a cow.

This the other attorney conceded, but he explained that he was going to follow up the testimony of the liverymen with expert testimony to show how much less, if any, it costs to keep a cow than a horse.

"Oh, if you're going to work on that plan," put in McEwen in judicial tones, "you might as well start in with elephants and work down to cows by gradual stages."

Took Them at Their Word
"Any article removed from the window," was the notice prominently displayed at an outfitter's shop. Attracted by it, a supercilious person entered the shop and asked to be allowed to inspect a particularly vivid tie in the front row. The salesman having disarranged the window and brought out the desired object, the supercilious person remarked: "Rather loud, isn't it?"

"Well, somewhat striking," agreed the Shopman.

"I thought so," replied the visitor, as he turned to leave the shop. "It offends my taste. You needn't put it back. Good day!"

The Burdens of Wealth
One spring, for some reason, old Eli was going round town with a face of dissatisfaction, and, when questioned, he poured forth his voluble tale of woe thus: "Marse George, he come to me last fall an' he say, 'Eli, dis gwine ter be a hard winter, so you'd better an' save you' wages fas' an' tight.' An' I b'lieve Marse George, yas sah, I b'lieve him, an' I save an' I save, an' when de winter come it ain't got no hardship, an' dere was I wid all dat money jes' frown on mah hands!"

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

G-T-H-E Goose Girl

By HAROLD MCGRATH

"She is my sweetheart, Herr."

And there was no mockery in the youth's eyes as he said this.

"Take him along, Gottlieb. You will have no further use for this letter from her highness, so I'll keep it and frame it and hang it in the office." Which showed that Hoffman himself had had lessons in the gentle art of mockery.

Terrace ninety-eight was given over to small grapes; thus, many bunches had to be picked to fill the basket. But Dietrich went to work with a will. His fingers were deft and his knife was sharp and by midday he had turned his sixth basket, which was fair work, considering.

As Hoffman did not feed his employees, Dietrich was obliged to beg from his co-workers. Very willingly they shared with him their coarse bread and onions. He ate the bread and stuffed the onions in his pocket. There was no idling. As soon as the frugal meal was over, the peasants trooped away to their respective terraces. Once more the youth was alone. He set down his basket and laughed. Was there ever such a fine world? Had there ever been a more likable adventure?

The very danger of it was the spice which gave it flavor. He stretched out his arms as if to embrace this world which appeared so rosy, so joyous to his imagination.

"Thanks, thanks! You have given me youth, and I accept it," he said aloud, perhaps addressing that mutable goddess who presides over all follies. "Regret it in my old age? Not! I shall have lived for one short month. Youth was given to us to enjoy, and I propose to press the grape to the final drop. And when I grow old this adventure shall be the tonic to wipe out many wrinkles of care. A mad fling, a brimming cup one short merry month—and then, the reckoning! How I hate the thought!"

He sobered; the laughter went out of his eyes and face. Changeable twenty, where so many paths reach out into the great world, paths straight and narrow, of devious turnings which end at precipices, of blind alleys which lead nowhere and close in behind!

"I love her, I love her!" His face grew bright again, and the woeing blood ran tingling in his veins. "Am I a thief, a scoundrelly thief, because I have that right common to all men, to love one woman? Some day I shall suffer for this; some day my heart shall ache; so be it!"

The sun began the downward circle; the shadows crept eastward and imperceptibly grew longer; a gray tone settled under the stones at his feet. Sometimes he sang, sometimes he stood dreaming. His fingers were growing sore and sticky and there was a twinge in his back as he shouldered his eighth basket and scrambled down to the man who weighed the pick. He was beginning his ninth when he saw Gretchen coming along the purple aisle. She waved her hand in welcome, and he sheathed his knife. No more work this day for him. He waited.

"What a beautiful day!" said Gretchen, with a happy laugh.

"Aye, what a day for love!"

"And work!"

"Kiss me!"

"When you fill that basket."

"Not before?"
"Not even a little one," mischief in her glance.

Out came the knife and the vintner plied himself furiously. Gretchen had a knife of her own, and she joined him. They laughed gaily. Snip, snip; bunch by bunch the contents of the basket grew.

"There!" he said at last. "That's what I call work. But it is worth it. Now!"

Gretchen saw that it would be futile to hold him off longer; what she would not give, he would of surety take. So she put her hands behind her back, closed her eyes, and raised her chin. He kissed not only the lovely mouth, but the eyes and cheeks and hair.

"Gretchen, you are as good and beautiful as an angel."

"What are angels like?"
"An angel is the most beautiful woman a poet can describe or imagine."

"Then there are no men angels?"
"Only Gabriel; at least I never heard of any other."

"Then I do not want to be an angel. I had rather be what I am. Besides, angels do not have tempers; they do not long for things they should not have; they have no sweethearts." She caught him roughly by the arms. "Ah, if anything should happen to you, I should die! It seems as though I had a hundred hearts and that they had all melted into one for love of you. Do men love as women love? Is it everything and all things, or only an incident, I would give up my soul to you if you asked for it."

"I ask only for your love, Gretchen; only that." And he pressed her hands. "All men are rogues, more or less. There are so many currents and eddies entering into a man's life. It is made up of a thousand variant interests. No, man's love is never like a woman's. But remember this, Gretchen, I loved you the best I knew how, as a man loves but once, honorably as it was possible, purely and dearly."

The shade of trouble crossed her face.

"Why are you always talking like that? Do I not know that you love me? Have I not my dowry, and are we not to be married after the vintage?"

"But your singing?"
"Singing? Why, my voice belongs to you; for you sake I wish to be great, for no other reason."

He ripped a bunch of grapes from the vine, a thing no careful vintner should do, and held it toward her.

"Have you ever heard of the kissing cherries?" he asked.

She shook her head. He explained.

"This bunch will do very well." He took one grape at the bottom in his teeth. Gingerly Gretchen did the same. Their lips met in a smothered laughter. Then they tried it again.

And this Watteau picture met the gaze of two persons on the terrace below. The emporing face of one threatened an explosion, but the smiling face of the other restrained this vocal thunder. The old head vintner kicked a stone savagely, and at this rattling noise Gretchen and her lover turned. They beheld the steward, and peering over his shoulder the amused countenance of the Princess Hildegarde.

"You—" began the steward, no longer able to contain himself.

"Patience, Hoffman!" warned her highness. Then she laughed blithely. It was such a charming picture, and never had she seen a handsomer pair of bucolic lovers. A sudden pang drove the merriment from her face. Ah, but she envied Gretchen! For the peasant there was freedom, there was the chosen mate; but for the princess—

"Your hat, scoundrel!" cried Hoffman.

The vintner snatched off his hat apologetically and swung it round on the tips of his fingers.

"Is this the way you work?"
"I have picked nine baskets."

"You should have picked twelve." It interested her highness to note that this handsome young fellow was not afraid of the head vintner. So this was Gretchen's lover? He was really handsome; there was nothing coarse about his features or figure. And presently she realized that he was returning her scrutiny with interest. He had never seen her highness at close range before, and he now saw that Gretchen was more beautiful only because he saw her through the eyes of a lover.

IN BOTH THEIR MEMORIES

A Chicago traveling man was telling a story illustrative of how accustomed to long separations a traveling man and his wife may become.

This man's work takes him from coast to coast, and not infrequently he is gone from home for five and six months at a stretch.

The last time he went away, according to the man's story, he was obliged to leave home right in the midst of a meal in order to make the train he wanted.

"You ought to wait another day and have your suit pressed," remarked his wife. "I hate to have you go looking so ill groomed."

"I'll have it done within a day or two—or at the first chance," promised the husband. "Wish I could stay, though, for a piece of that apple pie you were making. Save me a piece, won't you?" he added with a grin.

Well, she went to the train with him and bade him a fond goodbye. Just five months and ten days later he returned.

His wife was again at the train, dutifully. "I see you kept your promise and had your suit pressed," were her first words as she threw her arms around his neck.

"Yes," he said, "but, by the way, did you save me that piece of apple pie?"

Cannon and the Hearing.
A writer in recent number of La Nature, M. Ghastung, gives some interesting facts with regard to artillery practice in the French navy, and shows an inclination to favor the supposition, which we do not remember to have seen mentioned before, that in many instances injury to the auditory apparatus from the discharge of cannon is really due rather to asphyxiation than to concussion.

It seems that on the schoolship as many as from 700 to 1,000 charges are fired at a seance, presumably in rather quick succession. Thus an immense amount of gas generated by the combustion of the powder is produced, and this (in some way that does not appear clear to us) leads to such rarefaction of the air of the deck that it is suction instead of impact that injures the ear. The author finds support for this supposition in the fact that plugs of cotton inserted into the auditory canal are often found to have been wholly or in part withdrawn by the firing.

He admits, however, that persons standing very close to the gun are injured by concussion, as has commonly been supposed.

A Long Story.
"I read in your face," said the man about to give alms, "the story of a misspent life."

"Not de whole story, governor. What you see dere is only de last installment."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

INSTALL WELL SYSTEM ON BOND

Prominent Local Business Man will Offer to Put in Auxiliary Pump for $10,000

DISCUSS OFFER TONIGHT

North Side Progressive League will Take Steps to Bring it Before the Council

At the monthly meeting of the North Side Progressive League this evening an offer of a prominent local business man, whose name will then be made public, to install a well system with auxiliary pumps for the water supply of the North side will be discussed and action will undoubtedly be taken to bring the matter before the common council in an effort to remedy the lack of water pressure which in case of fires recently has been found to be inadequate and a serious danger in case of a big fire.

The proposition is to install two auxiliary pumps on the North side, to be operated by two 30 horse power motors and to sink six well points from 60 to 90 feet in the ground. The piping will be connected in various places and the man is so certain of the success of the system that he is willing to go under bond of any amount to guarantee the water supply from this source.

It has been figured out that to relay new pipe of larger dimensions from the present pump house to the north side would cost all the way from $14,400 to $24,000, while, according to the figures, the auxiliary pump would cost but $10,000.

Following are the figures which have been submitted for the auxiliary pumping station on the North side and for the taking up of the old North side main and laying new pipe to the North side from the present pumping station.

Cost of pumping station, guaranteed to pump 1,000,000 gal. a day. Two pumps, $1800 each ... $ 3,600
Two 30 h. p. motors ... 800
Six points (put down 60 ft.) ... 1,200
Building, with pits for pumps etc. ... 3,500
Connecting pipe, etc. ... 900

Total ... $10,000
Cost of running and maintaining above pumping plant to pump 1,000,000 gallons per day, 20 k. w. per hour, 1-2c per k. w., $7.20. To attendants, etc., per day, $10.26 per 24 hours.

Cost of repairing old main: If new pipe is put in from pump house to St. Cloud street, the cost will be $14,400. For laying pipe across La Crosse River, $600. Total, $15,000. If a 16 inch pipe is laid, $22,500, extra for across La Crosse River, $500. Total, $23,000. If the old 12 inch pipe is taken up it can be sold for about $6,750, making a net cost of 16 inch pipe, $17,250.

The principal work of the league at its meeting this evening will be the discussion of the practicability of this system. If found satisfactory steps will be taken to bring it before the council.

THOMPSON AWAITS RETURN OF DUNCAN

No Further Developments in Jail Investigation Until Sheriff Comes Tonight

Nothing new has developed in the investigation of the affairs at the county jail, District Attorney James Thompson today making the announcement that he is awaiting the return to the city of Sheriff William Duncan, who is expected to be back from Waupun this evening.

"As soon as the sheriff returns I will ask him to make an explanation of the charges made against him," said the district attorney, "and will ascertain whether or not he will remove Turnkey Frank Brown as requested by the county board. Until he returns home nothing further can be done in the matter."

The bills for board which were filed with the committee on claims, were for all prisoners dating back to May 1. None of these bills have been allowed and will not be until I have held a conference with the sheriff. It may be that Mr. Duncan will have a satisfactory explanation to make when the matter comes up. I expect, however, to look over the records regarding past board bills."

TOM MORRIS HURT IN A BALL GAME

Senator Thomas Morris sustained an injury to his left leg last evening while playing indoor baseball at a picnic given by the faculty of the state normal school at Myrick park. The senator was at bat and in his own words, "I hit the ball and threw down the bat and in running I stepped on the end of it, throwing it against my leg. I saw a home run in sight and made two bases when I was obliged to give up." The injury is not serious, but the attending physician says the senator will be laid up about a week.

They will make the return trip by train.

FAST MAIL HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Train Stopped within a Few Inches of Engine at North Side This Morning

The Milwaukee fast mail train, No. 55, due at the north side station at 10:36 o'clock, had a narrow escape this morning when the train was stopped within a few inches of a large K1 locomotive standing on the crossing over switch near the Mill street crossing. The locomotive had just been taken off of an incoming freight train from the River division and had not cleared the cross over when the fast mail came flying through the yards at a high rate of speed. The engineer stopped the mail train within a few inches of the big locomotive, which if they had collided would have wrecked the engine and probably derailed the passenger train's locomotive. No one was hurt but several tramps were seen to jump from the first blind on the mail coach, to tumble sprawling on the ground.

RUSSIAN EXILES STARVE TO DEATH

ST. PETERSBURG, July 13.—The famine in extensive districts of Siberia, notably in the provinces of Tobolsk, Semyalatinsk and Yenisek is growing steadily worse, owing to the insufficient crops of this year. The principal sufferers will be the many thousands of political exiles.

The local authorities are taking measures to aid the inhabitants but are leaving the political prisoners to the fate as in the Siberian famine of 1900, when hundreds and even thousands of the political exiles died of starvation.

GENERAL CLEANUP IN MANY DEPARTMENTS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—The forced retirement of Rear Admiral Washington L. L. Capps, chief constructor of the navy—the second official bombshell exploded by Secretary Meyer within two months—is only the beginning of a cleaning out of the bureau of construction and repairs, just as the resignation of Rear Admiral Rogers was merely the beginning of the overhauling of the personnel of the bureau of supplies and accounts.

These two bureaus have been the citadels of the staff officers in the controversy with the line officers for many years. Subordinate officers of the construction corps are on the anxious seat today waiting to see what will become of them. It is certain that several of Admiral Capps' chief lieutenants, assistant naval constructors in the bureau at the department, will receive orders within the next few days which will send them to posts so far removed from headquarters that they will be unable to continue the staff fight.

This was the plan adopted by Secretary Meyer in the case of the bureau of supplies and accounts. He holds that the new constructor must have a free hand to conduct his bureau successfully and the possibility of opposition from assistant constructors who espoused the fight of Admiral Capps against the Meyer plan of reorganization will be removed by putting these officers in places where their hands will be tied.

The successor to Admiral Capps has been chosen but announcement will not be made of his appointment for several weeks. He is a member of the construction corps, at present not on duty at the bureau in Washington. He will come to Washington about August 1 but will not take charge of the bureau until the resignation of Admiral Capps takes effect on Oct. 1.

Rear Admirals Capps and Rogers were the only two high ranking officials who championed the staff cause in the line and staff fight. Unless congress chooses to revive the matter at the next session it is believed the fight will end for want of leadership.

The other staff bureaus—yards and docks and medicine and surgery—have been placed in charge of men who are sympathetic with the Meyer plan. Surgeon General Rixey, up to the time of his retirement, a few months ago, was inclined to take his staff point of view but his successor, Dr. Stocks, a Meyer appointee, has sided with the secretary in his reorganization, so that no opposition can be looked for from that quarter.

THE FINEST FLOUR IN THE WORLD

What think you of a mill that has been obliged to run steadily, full capacity, twenty-four hours a day, for the past year, and is then behind on orders? Such is the fact in regard to the WINGOLD mill. Many mills, older and more widely advertised, are running half capacity, or perhaps half time. We leave you to draw your own conclusions.

MORE DEMOCRACY NEEDED IN CITIES

Francis E. McGovern Addresses Mayors at the Municipal League Convention

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 13.—In an address last night before the convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, on the subject of "Home Rule for Cities," Francis E. McGovern, former district attorney of Milwaukee county, and republican candidate for governor, declared that the failure of city administrations was not caused by any weakness in the principle of popular government. A remedy could not be found, he declared, in a mere exchange of officers. The evil, he says, lies deeper.

Mr. McGovern then took up the growth and prosperity of the city and country showing where as a century ago but three per cent of the population resided in the cities that 50 per cent now is urban and in consequence the city must be looked to for control and leadership. The remedy, he said, lay in home rule; not in democracy alone, but in more democracy.

Mayor Frank R. Crumpton of Superior presented an able paper on the subject, "Railroad Taxation in Cities."

In the address of President Schubert he advocated the teaching of civics in the public schools and declared that the teachers should communicate to their pupils the proper sense of responsibility of citizenship in this country. He said it was plainly the business of schools to use their extraordinary opportunity to equip the voters of tomorrow with a training in the vital affairs of the government that shall make them intelligent critics of what their servants have done.

WOULD LEAVE "MEANEST MAN"

CHICAGO, July 13.—Mrs. Irene C. O'Callaghan believes today that she has found the champion "mean man" in her husband, a Ravenswood physician.

"He is so parsimonious that before he left the house at night he took the electric light bulbs off the chandeliers and hid them in the ice box," she told the court, while asking for separate maintenance. She also accused her husband of showing his affection by kicking her between the shoulder blades.

WOULD LEAVE "MEANEST MAN"

CHICAGO, July 13.—Mrs. Irene C. O'Callaghan believes today that she has found the champion "mean man" in her husband, a Ravenswood physician.

"He is so parsimonious that before he left the house at night he took the electric light bulbs off the chandeliers and hid them in the ice box," she told the court, while asking for separate maintenance. She also accused her husband of showing his affection by kicking her between the shoulder blades.

BAND CALLS THEM FOR BIG OUTING

Doerflinger Employees on the Annual Picnic at Pettibone Park
Today

SOME OF THE THINGS DOING

Dolling will Make the Coffee and John and William Both There with a River Smile

About an hour after noon today the writer, sitting in the editorial "holy of holies" with one of the publishers of this newspaper was—INTERRUPTED. Sweet strains of music struck his ears, the hurrying tread of many feet, the din of many voices. What could it be? The music was MARTIAL. No getting around that. Had the long-talked-of war in the east actually broken out, and never a word of it from our Asiatic correspondents? No-o! That wasn't possible. Rushing over to Main street we saw first the jovial face of Monsieur Kreutz at the head of his justly-famed band, and following him EVERYBODY from the big Doerflinger store at Fourth and Main streets—employer and employee, girls and boys, men and women, armed with formidable looking baskets, all of them wearing their picnic clothes: "Something doing" and the newspaper instinct broke out all over that editor immediately.

"Where 're ye goin'," said he to Bill Doerflinger, who loomed up in front, red-faced, perspiring and jolly. (You can call him Bill on picnic days.) "Been around the town for ten years, have ye and don't know THAT yet. A NICE nose for news YOU'VE got. We're going over to Pettibone Park—that's where—all of us—on our annual picnic, and we don't intend to do anything but eat and play until tomorrow. You'd better shut up that newspaper office and come along. You won't miss all the money you'll lose anyway."

And the editor, as he looked down the line of 400 smiling faces, then up at the sky, as he sniffed the cool breeze from the river and saw the green branches waving over at Pettibone was tempted—MIGHTILY tempted.

At the front of the line stood John Toeller. Now, we all know John Toeller. It's as hard to get a smile out of him inside the big store as it is to beat him in a trade. Turn him toward the "Father of Waters," however, and start him going. YOU'LL see. His face beams. He exudes good nature at every pore. He fairly falls over himself to get IN the water FIRST. It's a good, healthy disposition to have, too—keeps a man ready for the fray twenty-four hours in the day.

Just at this moment, however, there was an interruption—a mighty rumble and roar a bit down the line. "That's Al Muth," said Doerflinger, "laughing at one of his own jokes. He has several—tells 'em at the rate of one a day until he gets through, then starts over again. Picnic day he tells 'em all." Al Muth's a good fellow—just AS orderly, AND systematic—nothing ever out of place in his department, always on time with everything. Keeps all he has up-to-the-minute. Meets everybody with punctilious courtesy. It's a pleasure to do business with a man like Al Muth, and a bigger pleasure to go picnicking with him.

Then, there was Will Dolling alongside. He's the head of the culinary branch of the picnic. Last year he made the coffee so strong that everyone who drank it dreamed of their dead relatives the night after. Dolling promises a superior article this afternoon, however, made of the purest artesian water and the finest Mocha the Park store affords, mixed and boiled in the proper proportions. Will Dolling is president of the Wm. Doerflinger Co. Employees' Mutual Benefit association. He appointed the committees that handle this picnic—John C. Toeller and Albert Toeller on aquatic sports; Wm. Doerflinger and Alfred Langenbach on entertainment, and Albert Langenbach and Albert Toeller on land sports. This year Mr. Dolling couldn't find a man to make coffee in the whole store. Nobody knew how. Funny thing, too, that. He saw it was up to Dolling, and he didn't shrink.

Then along came John Halvorsen, manager of the men's top-toe departments. He can sell you a hat for your head, footwear for your feet, neckties for your neck, coats for your back, etc., etc. And all you've got to do is pay him ONCE. And John Halik, our treasurer without bond, left his money bags in the safe, and got in line, too. He's the little man who sits behind the big desk on the first floor balcony in the Park store, and receives the homage of every individual in the store each Monday afternoon. It's true. He does. He's paymaster.

Away down at the end of the line loomed up big Alfred Langenbach in his picnic clothes with his yard-long picnic smile. He's the furniture and curtain man who believes in doing all things RIGHT—picnics included. Charley Sherman and his bevy of handsome girls were next in line. (A year ago, he was sick in the hospital.) Now, he's willing to test the combined culinary skill of all La Crosse. He means to do it this afternoon, too. Miss Jefferson, proprietor of the millinery department, is in Europe. She cabled that the Lusitania isn't swift enough to get her here in time for this picnic. Joe Doerflinger nearly balked when told he couldn't take his new auto, but had to walk in line like the rest. All the same we wouldn't have much of a picnic without Joe. He's been in the employ of

HIS OWN WITNESS SPOILS THE CASE

William P. Gleason Has a Hard Time Explaining
How He Obtained a Coat

After calling a witness to explain to the court how he came in possession of a coat stolen from the Busy Bee, a confectionery store on North Third street, which was burglarized on the night of June 28, William P. Gleason was worse off than he was before. The case is a peculiar one and although the prisoner is being held to the circuit court Judge Brindley announced that he would adjourn the case until Friday morning at ten o'clock in an effort to obtain other witnesses who may be able to give a satisfactory explanation of the affair and thereby bring about the release of the defendant, should he be innocent.

The burglary was reported to the police on the morning of June 29 and on the Fourth of July Gleason was arrested, wearing the coat. When asked where he got the coat he told Chief Webber that he bought it from a stranger at River Junction, giving him 50 cents and a package of tobacco for it. When taken into court Gleason pleaded not guilty and said that Hollis A. Dickson, telegraph operator for the Milwaukee road at River Junction, could tell all about the coat. Detectives McGrath and John Wendling went up and saw Dickson and he denied that he had ever seen the coat and declared that he knew nothing about it.

This morning Gleason was given a hearing and Dickson was called as a witness for the defendant. He testified that the coat in question was brought into his office one morning and was hung up on the wall. Because he did not want it there, he testified, he gave it to Gleason, but at the time he did not know who the coat belonged to, but had learned that someone bought it from a tramp for $3. The same story was told by Gleason when he took the stand.

The court said that the testimony of Dickson was damaging to Gleason's case for several reasons and therefore could give it no weight.

Gleason was held for trial under $1,500 bonds, but in view of the fact that there may be a possibility of proving that the defendant is innocent, adjournment was taken until Friday.

bags had been torn to bits. The heavy car and the fragments of the gas bag fell like a plummet. Erbsloeh and his companions fell 5,000 feet to instant death. Physicians who examined the bodies declare they never saw human forms so horribly mangled.

The dirigible was so completely wrecked by the mael that it is impossible to learn just what caused the fatal accident. The disaster in all its details resembles the one which befell the French army dirigible several months ago when five French officers met death by the collapse of the gas bag.

Sun Expanded Gas
The fatal voyage lasted only 45 minutes. The dirigible was almost over the village of Patscheid in the Rhein province.

Balloonists are divided as to the store as long as Will Doerflinger. Joseph Toeller, the sporting goods man was in line. You should have seen him, and his basket and tackle. If Joe loves anything it's fishing and all afternoon today you can find him with his hook and feet in the water and both eyes on the cork.

Laying all jokes aside, the annual picnic given by the management of the Park store to their employees is a nice thing. Said Wm. Doerflinger to me: "It's a way we have of showing our employees we appreciate the hard work they do for us, and while it's only a little thing on our part, they talk about it for weeks," and judging by the looks on the 400 faces that filed by me, and the way the talk ran around the store after last year's picnic, I believe he's right. probable cause of the accident. Some believe the sun's rays expanded the gas in the balloonettes until they could no longer stand the strain while others believe one of the 125 horsepower gasoline motors exploded.

Aviator Known Here

Herr Oscar Erbsloeh, the aviator, was well known in the United States having piloted the German balloon Pommern in the international balloon races held in St. Louis in 1907. The Pommern rose in St. Louis and landed in New Jersey, coming down only because the ocean had been reached. For this flight, the longest of the race, Erbsloeh won the James Gordon Bennett cup, the first prize.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 13.—Partial fulfillment of the prophecy of Madame Thebes, the famous French seeress who predicts the death to all who seek to conquer the air, is seen today in the fatal dirigible balloon accident in Germany and the probable suicide of Lt. A. L. Pfitzner of Hungary, who has been employed as an aviator at the Burgess plant at Plum Island.

Pfitzner is believed to have shot himself while in a boat off this port and to have fallen into the sea. Search is being made today for his body and a reward for its recovery is offered. Pfitzner, 35 years old, was an ex-officer of the Hungarian artillery and a member of an old and aristocratic family.

"Game Has Me Beaten"

"The game has me beaten," Pfitzner said after an accident last Saturday and that night, after a long stroll over the sand hills, he came back to the aviation plant carrying a blood stained towel. It is believed he tried suicide at that time but failed. The aviator came here yesterday, hired a boat and rode out into the maze of yachts in the harbor. Several hours afterward the skiff was found, empty outside the harbor.

Pfitzner had disappeared. In the boat were found his coat and hat. On a seat was a note: "Whoever finds this boat please return to the boat livery opposite the New Fountain Inn, Marblehead. A. L. Pfitzner."

In the bottom of the new boat with two shells discharged was found a Colts automatic revolver.

To make certain it is believed he balanced himself on the edge of the boat, shot himself and then tumbled overboard to drown if the bullets failed.

STRIKERS PLAY WAITING GAME

No Developments in Woodworkers' Trouble Today,
Twelve More Men
Join Ranks

There were no developments in the strike of the woodworkers at the Segelke-Kohlhaus and Hackner plants today, except that Organizer Phillip Carlin of the national organization who is here directing the strike informed Secretary Ott of the company the union would not expect the 5 cent raise in the case of the 35 per cent of employees who received a 10 per cent raise in the spring. The organizer claims this with other demands were ignored.

According to a statement by Organizer Carlin today 90 union members went out originally, and ten others in sympathy, two joining these last night, making a total of 102 men out. Nine boys quit in sympathy also, says Carlin, who claims there are now only 27 men in both plants of the Segelke-Kohlhaus company and that these will be out within a few days. The organizer says he has many outside calls for men and can find places for the strikers if the fight is prolonged. Some of the reports heretofore published have been erroneous, says the organizer, and he requested the publication of these figures as authoritative.

LA CROSSE WINS THE YULE CUP

the visitors to the fact that La Crosse had an active candidate for the state championship. Five years ago Gordon was counted upon as La Crosse's strongest candidate, but he was too unusual to tourney play to make the expected showing. This year, however, he has had so much more experience that he may be feared by the best of the visitors with good reason.

The crack La Crosse team yesterday afternoon won the splendid $600 sterling silver Yule cup, the prize trophy of the Wisconsin State Golf association's annual tournament at the Links of the Country club.

La Crosse first, down; Milwaukee Country second, 25 down; Kenosha and Madison tied for third, 30 down. That is the result in brief.

The Blue Mound club of Milwaukee was fifth in the list, 34 down. The play on Tuesday was marked by some fast shooting. Robert Gordon, the home club's candidate for championship honors, was the medalist of the day, for in addition to beating the colonel 5 down in the Yule cup play he pushed down a medal card of 79, five strokes under bogey, the card being as follows:
Bogey ... 544 456 365—12
Gordon out 654 455 234—40
Gordon in, 543 545 364—39—79

Ned Allis of Milwaukee was second in the medal score line, and finished 2 up on the colonel, with a medal card of 83, one under bogey. The play of the nine teams which completed follows:

The entry list numbers an even ninety, or exactly double the number which started at the 1905 tourney over the same course.

Professional Match
Definite announcement was made on Tuesday of the proposed professional event. After the state championship is decided, there will be an open event for all the professionals of the state, to demonstrate to the golfers assembled here the difference between amateur and professional play. There will be a purse which the pros will be allowed to divide as they wish. It will be purely an educational feature, and may be arranged as an annual event to follow the annual state championship.

SENTIMENT GROWS FOR LA FOLLETTE

Capt. William Mitchell Lewis, is, Candidate for Governor, in the City
Today

"In my travels through the south eastern, southern and southwestern parts of the state I found the sentiment growing for La Follette and county option," said Capt. William Mitchell Lewis of Racine, republican candidate for governor, who arrived in the city this afternoon in an automobile. "Thus far I have visited 23 counties of the state," continued Captain Lewis, having made the trip by automobile. The weather has been very warm and therefore not many organizations have thus far been perfected. This trip is principally one for the purpose of getting acquainted. I expect to return to La Crosse for a speech the latter part of August. I will not make any speeches until the first part of August."

Captain Lewis is accompanied on his tour by Alfred J. Lunt of Racine and W. L. Haight of Milwaukee, secretary of the speakers' bureau for the coming campaign. This afternoon the captain, who is president of the Racine Country club, went to the golf links to witness the state golf tournament. The party will leave tomorrow afternoon for Racine, expecting to arrive there Saturday. Stops will be made at Sparta, Tomah, Camp Douglas and other places along the route.

arranged as an annual event to follow the annual state championship. Although La Crosse won the Yule cup in a fair contest with a pretty score, it is only fair to call attention to the fact that two of Kenosha's strongest players, C. C. Allen and Chester Barnes, did not figure on the Kenosha team.

STILL A CHANCE FOR GOOD WORK

Although he was unable to attend the annual convention of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association at St. Paul this week, Congressman John J. Esch is greatly interested in the work that has been done by that organization and declares that there is still a lot more that can be accomplished.

"As a general rule when an organization has fulfilled its mission there is nothing further for it to do," said Mr. Esch, "but this is not the case with the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association. It is true that the association, through its efforts has brought about an appropriation by congress for a six-foot channel, but it is now up to the association to see that the river ciation was organized nine years ago it was for the purpose of inducing congress to make an appropriation for a six foot channel. This has been accomplished. Now I believe the association should make an effort to develop the river and see that the Mississippi river is used for transportation purposes. It is useless for the government to expend large sums of money in building a six-foot channel and making the river fit for navigation, unless it is used. I would suggest that the improvement association educate the business men in all river towns to use the river in having their goods shipped. The organization of packet companies, either to operate boats for local trade or for the full length of the river from St. Paul to St. Louis can be effected and the association can do much good work along these lines."

WM. MITCHELL LEWIS, RACINE GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE, WHO IS IN LA CROSSE TODAY.

COUNTY OPTION

FROM THE SPEECH DELIVERED BY
CAPT. WM. MITCHELL LEWIS

AT MILWAUKEE, JUNE 30, 1910

COUNTY OPTION.

Right in line with these other efforts to provide ample governmental machinery for ascertaining and enforcing the will of the majority is the proposition to give the people of each county the right to say for themselves whether or not they want saloons in their county.

Now, we who advocate county option look upon it as an instrument for ascertaining and enforcing the will of the majority on the liquor question. We are advocating a square deal for every man who lives within the sphere of influence of the saloon. We demand that the people of each county, if they choose to exercise it, shall have the right to vote on the question of licensing saloons in that county.

COUNTY IS TAX UNIT.

The county is the tax unit. Every taxpayer in the county must contribute to the support of the county government. He must contribute to the maintenance of the courts, the jails, the poorhouses and the insane asylums. The saloons add to the cost of maintaining all these institutions. The license which the saloon pays goes only to the city or village where the saloon is located. This license money may help to repair sidewalks, but it does not help to maintain the courts, the jails, the poorhouses and the asylums. These are county institutions and must be maintained by a county tax. And every taxpayer in the county is compelled by law to help support these institutions.

Hence advocates of county option contend that as a mere matter of justice in taxation every taxpayer in the county is entitled to a voice in the final decision as to whether or not saloons shall be licensed in that county.

The county is also the unit of law enforcement. The city attorney and the police may enforce the city ordinance, but it is up to the district attorney and the sheriff to enforce the state laws. It is impossible to go far into a discussion of the liquor issue without sooner or later considering the proposition of law enforcement.

The division of authority between city and county officials is often a source of sore vexation. The mere fact that the duty of enforcing the law is divided between two sets of officials, each set answerable and responsible to the people of different political units, creates a tendency toward laxness of administration.

LIQUOR INTEREST OPPOSITION.

It is a part of the history of the liquor traffic in this and every other country, that the liquor interests have opposed each proposition offered for the regulation of the traffic. If the liquor interests have been defeated and the new plan of regulation has been put into effect, immediately there has arisen a fight over the enforcement of the law.

And so it was as a solution of the question of law enforcement that county option was urged by those who had tired of being deprived of the fruits of their victories at the polls by city and village officials who yield to the influence of the brewer in politics. Experience with county option in other states has shown that there is a more satisfactory enforcement of law when the county officials know the sentiment of the people who elected them and when there is no question in the minds of the citizens as to just what officials are to be held responsible.

County option is an issue in Wisconsin because it was forced upon the people by the brewers.

When, in the course of the growth of this sentiment, the advocates of a more strict regulation, profiting by their experience, voiced a demand that the question of license or no license should be submitted to a vote of all the people living in a county, instead of being submitted merely to a vote of people of town, villages or cities, the liquor interests saw at once the effectiveness of such a proposition.

Then it was that they decided to inaugurate a campaign to elect members of the legislature whom they could control.

BREWERY DOMINATION.

With the brewers attempting to throttle the natural growth of moral sentiment, with the brewers attempting to control the legislature, and with the brewers denying the people an opportunity to vote on the liquor question, is it any wonder that county option is a political issue?

The brewers have opposed every forward step in regulation, and have yielded to public sentiment only when it would have been suicide not to yield. The opposed township option. They opposed high license. They opposed district option. They opposed the bill to keep saloons 300 feet away from schoolhouses.

They now talk of a "more strict regulation." Certainly it is not for the liquor interests to say what this regulation shall be.

The influence of the saloon extends from the city or village in which it exists, out into the country for many miles.

If this were not true you would not hear the liquor interests making the argument that to take the saloon out of the city drives the farmers' trade to some other point. This loss of farmers' trade is one of the principal arguments put forth by the brewery interests in their local license campaigns. By arguing that "the farmer must have his beer" the brewers admit that the influence of the saloon extends beyond the limits of the city where it is located, and far out into the country districts.

If we are to be consistent in our ideals of majority rule, we must admit that all the people living within a county have a right to a vote in the final decision as to whether saloons shall exist in that county.

RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS.

Under county option the saloons could not be abolished in any county unless a majority of the voters of that particular county decided they do not want saloons.

County option means a chance to vote.

County option means majority rule.

County option is a method of regulation. It is a method of handling the license question, a method of deciding where the saloon shall exist.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGE FIGHT.

Wisconsin has been the leader of all the states in the fight against special privilege and against the domination of government by large interests.

Wisconsin earned its leadership in this struggle because the people of this state could see clearly the definite, specific wrongs which they suffered.

The great battle against railroad domination was a long time in taking shape, and it had many phases. For several years there was general agitation. There were bitter complaints against the overwhelming influence of these corporations in politics and in government. There were serious charges that the railroads did not pay their share of the taxes. And there were vigorous protests against the discrimination in railroad rates and general denunciation of the practice of rebating.

The great fight in Wisconsin was for the restoration of representative government, to make government serve the people as a whole and not special interests. The wonderful success of that contest was possible only because we could see clearly the things we were fighting for one at a time.

BREWERS IN POLITICS.

Railroad domination has been supplanted by brewery domination. Many things which the railroads used to do in politics the brewers now do. And some things which the railroads never dared to do in politics the brewers now do. The railroads, in their boldest days, never dared to exact a written pledge of a member of the legislature and to demand of him an oath of allegiance to the railroad interests. Yet the brewers today do this very thing, preposterous as it may seem.

I know of no more humiliating spectacle in the history of free gov-

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN

I am a Republican and have, since my majority, affiliated with that party. I am proud of the party's great achievement in the past, but I am not the kind of a Republican who insists my party can do no wrong. The Republican party has of late made some grievous mistakes which I do not attempt to defend. In fact, I believe it the duty of the party to lose no time in correcting its mistakes and keeping faith with the people. I have always believed and still believe that the Republican party is the party of the people, BUT THE PEOPLE MUST RULE THE PARTY.

LA FOLLETTE

There is a growing sentiment throughout the country that interests not much concerned with the welfare of the masses are directing its affairs. I desire herewith to register a solemn protest against the domination of the party by forces or influences which are waged contrary to the welfare of all the people. It is not too late for us to take a new start. AGAIN LET ME SAY, I AM A REPUBLICAN—A PEOPLE'S REPUBLICAN—A PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN IN EVERYTHING THE TERM IMPLIES.

Progressive congressmen, including Senator La Follette, have blazed a plain trail for honest men to follow. LA FOLLETTE SHOULD BE RETURNED TO THE SENATE.

The big fight is on. Big men and good men are in it; Wisconsin, owing to its advanced position in this stage of our country's history, seems bound to be the battleground.

ROOSEVELT

There is one citizen of this country—one great American citizen—of whom I must speak on this occasion—a man whose versatility in many traits, in accomplishment, in bravery of speech and personal courage, is an example for every youth of the land—an American citizen known in the uttermost corners of the earth for his wisdom and learning, and honesty and honor—a man of men—a world-man—a man respected by the peoples of every country under the sun—Col. Theodore Roosevelt. I AM FOR THE PARTY OF ROOSEVELT! From the Speech of William Mitchell Lewis, June 30, 1910.

ernment than that which we witnessed in Wisconsin during the campaign of 1908. Then we beheld a sort of double-barreled bush-whacking. Through an organization posing as a personal liberty league candidates from coroner to United States senator were asked to state their position on the liquor question. Any who lacked the courage to reply were threatened with the opposition of the brewers' organization the same as were those who had the courage to say that they favored county option or any other advanced programme for regulating the liquor traffic.

It did not make any difference to the personal liberty league whether you were a candidate for the legislature a candidate for coroner or a candidate for the United States senate. The brewers and the personal liberty league attempted to defeat more than one candidate for congress in Wisconsin. They fought the nomination of L. L. Lenroot in the Eleventh district and employed every means they could devise to encompass his defeat. Mr. Lenroot is not the only man who ran for congress in 1908 who was opposed by the brewers.

What they tried but failed to do to Mr. Lenroot, they actually did do to Henry F. Cochems of Milwaukee. Both Mr. Lenroot and Mr. Cochems must know this quite as well as do the brewers.

Did the brewers stop at congressmen? No. They demanded even of the candidates for the United States senate an expression on the liquor question. The question was put to every candidate in writing. Those who did not see fit to answer this impertinent question were treated by the personal liberty league just as though they had openly declared in favor of prohibition.

WRITTEN PLEDGE DEMAND.

The bush-whacking campaign which was waged in 1908 for members of the legislature was resumed in the early stages of the present canvass. Always armed with the threat of opposition, the brewers attempted to quietly secure from candidates a secret pledge against county option. In some districts where temperance sentiment might be strong, but slumbering, efforts were made to put into the field candidates who might pose as independent, high-minded citizens, but who in reality had given secret pledges to stand by the brewers. These tactics were followed in districts where the personal liberty league was not strong. This is where the double barreled bush-whacking comes in; in some districts obnoxious open demands were made by the personal liberty league, and in other districts perniciously secret alliances were exacted by the brewers.

In Milwaukee they might support a Social Democrat; in Prairie du Chien they might elect a Bourbon democrat; in Superior they might make an alliance with a Progressive, and in Marinette with a Stalwart. They approach all candidates of all parties. They would control the nomination in all parties if they could, and then support for election the candidate on whom they could most safely rely. The brewers have not always chosen the best men. They seem to have had a preference for men who could be controlled on any and all matters. Control is what they have sought.

SEEKING CONTROL.

They have attempted to secure the large degrees of control, but if unsuccessful in this, they have been willing to accept a smaller degree—but always seeking control. Many inexperienced, but honest men, making their first ventures in politics, have been caught in the brewers' snare, and in the end have yielded their independence and manhood to the insidious wiles of the brewery lobby.

BREWERY IN LEGISLATURE.

The brewery lobby was particularly obnoxious. The registered lobbyists spent many thousands of dollars in Madison during the session of 1909. The brewers controlled absolutely about 16 members of the legislature. Through pressure they were able to bring to bear, they controlled still others.

The influence of the brewery lobby, however, did not end with the defeat of the county option law. The log rolling bee resulted in the defeat of the Milwaukee home rule bills, the binder twine bill, and I venture to say a score of other bills more or less important, to say nothing of some bad ones that were passed. It is not necessary at this time to consider the merits of these bills. In this connection it is only important to know that the brewery lobby was tending to other things than its own business.

PERNICIOUS LOG ROLLING.

Like the railroad lobby it supplanted, the brewers sought to become a sort of clearing house and did business at Madison like a huge department store issuing trading stamps with every vote. Controlling absolutely about sixteen votes the brewers could, on a trade, determine the fate of any legislation concerning which there was anything approaching an equal division of sentiment. In these trades, they had no convictions as to principles.

They could be either for or against any bill not affecting their own interests. They cared not how important the measure might be. They didn't give a rap whether a bill was beneficial or vicious. Their only concern was about the number of votes they could get in return.

We have in this state what is known as the Direct Legislation league which advocates an amendment to our constitution providing for the initiative and referendum. How can you hope to put such a proposition through the legislature until first you have compelled the breweries to get out of politics?

The performances of the brewery lobby in the last two sessions ought to be sufficient to convince any one that before there can be any further progress in this state the brewers must be driven out of politics.

The only published speech which thus far has been made in Wisconsin this year against county option was made before the men's club of a Milwaukee church by a young lawyer who announced in his first speech that though he was supposed to discuss county option, he purposed to start right in on prohibition. And he did.

BEFOGGING THE ISSUE.

I would not want to charge Mr. McGee with fully attempting to beg the issue, or to misrepresent the serious purpose of the thousands of earnest people who advocate county option. Mr. McGee simply made the mistake of talking about something he knew nothing about.

Surely Mr. McGee will admit, after reading and reflection that there is some difference between prohibiting the manufacture of beer and a proposition to give to the people of a county the right to vote on license.

Now that his attention has been called to the matter, I don't believe he will make the same mistake again.

That man who would approach this question dispassionately will see at once the necessity for first dividing this discussion into two parts for the sake of reaching and preserving a clear understanding of the problem. The economic questions, taxation, the uses to be made of license moneys, etc., are matters for the people of a county to weigh before they vote on the question of license or no license. Different communities place different estimates on the relative value of money and morals.

The economic phases of county option are properly up for discussion only when the counties are preparing to vote on the question of license or no license.

QUESTION AT ISSUE.

The question before the people of the state is whether the saloon shall exist in any particular county, it is not a question of revenue, it is a question of how much harm the saloon does.

It took the people of Wisconsin thirty years to drive the railroads out of politics. Sooner or later these things became unbearably obnoxious.

The only thing we propose is to pass a law which will give every voter in each county an opportunity to say whether that county shall have saloons.

The important question in this campaign is not saloons or no saloons. It is not primarily a question of option in any form, local, district, or county. Shall the brewer control our state, or shall we have a free, uncontrolled legislature assembled for the purpose of enacting into law the will of the majority?

BUY THE DULUTH CLUB FRANCHISE

Maitland, McCuen and Desmond Now Behind the Club; Old Men Out of It

According to dispatches received from Duluth where the league directors met yesterday Messrs. Maitland, McCuen and Desmond have purchased the stock in the Duluth baseball club and will see it through till the end of the season. They took over the franchise and the players at the meeting yesterday according to reports received from that city. This will keep the team in the league and as all the other clubs are anxious to finish the season, the dissolution of the organization has been prevented.

President John Elliott and Director E. H. Derr of this city, Farin of Red Wing, Sommer of Superior and Davis of Eau Claire were at the meeting.

All the details and the purchase of the franchise had not been effected last night but the sale has been arranged and Duluth will play out the schedule, the new owners taking over the stock today.

Darby O'Brien will be retained as manager of the club. He stated that new players would be signed and that every effort would be made to finish as the leaders. The business men of the city have promised to support the new management.

President Elliott and the other officials present state that every team is in favor of playing out the season and that there is no wavering upon the part of any of the clubs save Duluth. The situation was put right up to Duluth and with assurances of support upon the part of the business interests of the city the sale of the club will probably be completed within a few days. The sale of the franchise will also include a five year lease on the baseball park.

During the Third Degree. "So you are a professional burglar," said the policeman with the stubby mustache.

"Well, I thought I was," replied the subject of the interview. "But the way you fellows got me makes me believe I'm only an amateur."—Washington Star.

OUTCASTS BREAK EVEN WITH SOX

Shut Out in the First. They Tuck Away the Second in Very Easy Fashion

DULUTH, Minn., July 13.—La Crosse divided a double header with Duluth yesterday, losing the first by 1 to 0 and winning the second by 16 to 6. Hooker pitched both games for La Crosse, allowing only two hits in the first. One of these was a home run, however, and gave the Sox their only score. The second contest developed into a slugfest, in which Marion and Schmirler, both of whom were given a trial by major league teams last spring, received a severe pummeling. The Outcasts garnered sixteen hits, two of which were home runs by Ward. Ward and O'Brien both drove out homers with the bases full. The scores:

BASEBALL NOTES

Catcher McLean of the Cincinnati Reds says that the new pitcher purchased from Chicago, Bill Burns, has the best slow ball that he ever saw a left hander display.

Fred Tenney's contract with the Lowell club of the New England league is as a player only, and it is stipulated that he will be released at the end of the season.

Outfielder Davy Jones of the Detroit Tigers is surely having his third lease of life. He never played better ball and is getting on the bases oftener than any other man in the game.

Jake Daubert of Brooklyn is the classiest young first baseman who has broken into the league since the advent of Dick Hoblitzel. He is very quick, is a wonderful handler of thrown balls and a dangerous left handed batsman.

Wausau Wins in Twelfth

WAUSAU, Wis., July 13.—Wausau won yesterday in uphill work in one of the most stubbornly fought games on the local diamond, playing twelve rounds. Wolford was knocked out in the ninth, when the score stood 4 to 2 in Red Wing's favor, and Weidel, who followed, was hit hard. Wausau tied the result in the same round. A triple and a single produced the winning run. Score: R. H. E. Wausau 000000013001—5 9 1 Red Wing 012000010000—4 8 2 Batteries: Lakoff and Walliser; Wolford, Weidel and Thomas. Umpire, McDermott.

GOTCH WANTS TO BATTLE JOHNSON

World Champion Wrestler Willing to Take On the Negro if Sufficient Purse Is Posted

CHICAGO, July 13.—Harry H. Frazee, the theatrical manager who conducted Jeffries' tour, announced today that he had received the positive assurance of Frank Gotch that he would meet Jack Johnson for the heavyweight title if the negro would agree and a suitable purse could be secured.

Gotch is now at his farm in Humboldt, Iowa. According to Frazee he is eager to meet the black champion. Gotch declared in the communication he thought the purse ought not to be lower than the one negotiated in the Jeffries-Johnson fight. He prefers Australia for the scene of the battle and wants no preliminary tour or other arrangements other than immediate training for the fight.

Gotch said he wanted to fight Johnson solely because he wants to see supremacy again in the hands of the white race," said Frazee today. "He does not want preliminary tours to take place before the battle for the reason the people may call the fight a money making scheme such as has been said of the Jeffries tour before the big mill at Reno."

If arrangements are completed for a Gotch-Johnson agreement to fight it is said Frazee will manage the fight.

Langford must fight Jeannette. NEW YORK, July 13.—A finish fight between Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette, is proposed by Jack Johnson, who said today he would be willing to meet the winner. Both negroes have challenged Johnson but he said unless they get together and settle the question of supremacy he will have nothing to do with either.

There is an excellent chance that if the bout between Tommy Burns and Sam Langford, proposed for Labor Day at Reno, is not held through any reason, the Jeannette-Langford match will be substituted. It is claimed here that a bout would draw sufficiently well to enable the offering of a $20,000 purse, especially if it were made plain that the winner would have a chance at Johnson.

"BUGS" QUALIFIES FOR FULL LINE. CHICAGO, July 13.—A. L. (Bugs) Raymond yesterday made another of his periodical announcements that he had quit the Giants and intended to sign with some professional aggregation. Manager McGraw said this afternoon that he had not heard of Raymond's desertion.

Raymond visited Bob Welch, manager of a local city league team in his quest for a berth. "Nothing doing," said Welch. "I have a full line of twirlers now."

"Full line? Full line?" mused Bugs. "Well, I guess I could qualify all right."

O'KEEFE SEEKS FIGHT. DENVER, Colo., July 13.—If it be true that Harry Lewis of Philadelphia, has concluded to enter the middleweight division, and is looking for an opponent at 154 to 158 pounds, antagonist is waiting here. Denver Johnny O'Keefe today challenged Lewis to a battle in the near future. An effort is being made to stage the bout at Cheyenne. O'Keefe has also been batched to meet Jack (Twin) Sullivan in Boston in the fall.

It isn't difficult for a man to see his affinity in a woman with an obese bank account.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

DULUTH MAN MAY BE "DARK HORSE"

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 13.—John Jenswold of Duluth, is a probable democratic dark horse for governor. Certain friends of John Lind who are convinced the former governor will not take the nomination are working quietly, and at the proper time it is expected that Mr. Jenswold's name will be sprung. He is a prominent attorney, of Norwegian parentage, and a democrat of the radical school. He is also a man of comparative wealth, who can afford to sacrifice some time and money for a campaign.

MOB RINGLEADERS WERE BOY CONVICTS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 13.—Attorney General Denman announced this afternoon that he believed his office has found the two men who climbed the pole and fixed the rope with which Carl Etherington, the anti-saloon league detective was hanged at Newark Friday night. The suspects are Hugh Hawkins, 21, and Ben Felton, 22, both of whom were returned to the Mansfield reformatory from Newark for violating their paroles. NEWARK, Ohio, July 13.—Several are in the Licking county jail today of the mob who lynched Carl Etherington, the anti-saloon league detective. The arrest of Elmalene Watha, 51, colored, shortly before noon today, the police believe they have locked up one of the ring leaders of the riot. He was rounded up in a disorderly resort.
